A Heartfelt Farewell

Ms Williams will be leaving Holy Trinity today to continue and build upon the amazing work she has accomplished in Holy Trinity in another school.

We will truly miss this phenomenal lady who with loving kindness has always extended herself to assist, support, guide and much more to all the children, staff, parents and the school community in her twenty two years at Holy Trinity.

We wish her well with God's abundant blessings, protection and love in her new career.

As part of Collective Worship, we gave a wonderful tribute to Ms Williams.

Here is one of the many tributes given by one of the year 6 pupils

'In every challenge you showed us how to stand up tall, to take a bow with courage and grace. We will face the new, inspired always by strength in you. By Nailah
God Bless you Ms Williams.

12th July 2024

Dear Parents/Carers,

I am writing to advise you of the National Education Union's call to its members to take part in industrial strike action following a ballot in regards to:

- The proposal to close Holy Trinity Church of England Primary School in Lambeth.
- Failure of the employer to provide assurances there will be no compulsory redundancies arising from the closure.

The NEU's Interim Deputy General Secretary has stated that strike action will commence on Thursday 18th July 2024. I have been informed that our teaching staff will be taking industrial action to strike and having reviewed our options based on the impact of staffing upon pupil safety, Holy Trinity will be closed to all children on Thursday 18th July 2024. Breakfast Club and all after school clubs/activities will not be in operation.

If you wish for your child to undertake learning activities at home, you may wish to explore the following: - BBC Bitesize has a range of primary age learning activities:
<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/primary>

We acknowledge and understand how challenging this period of strike action may be for some of you in terms of work commitments and childcare.

We thank you for your support and cooperation in this matter.

Kind regards

Ms Thomas

What Parents & Educators Need to Know about

ONLINE TROLLING

The term "trolling" refers to sending hurtful or provocative comments – often done anonymously online – to provoke a reaction or cause emotional distress. Anonymity can embolden people into saying things they wouldn't dare say in person. Euro 2024 and other tournaments tend to put an emphasis on this, with the abuse of both players and fans often increasing during such events.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

ESCALATION

Many trolls begin with silly, banal comments before moving on to a broader pattern of offensive messages and posts. They can also turn their attention very quickly to a new target if they grow bored with one existing one, which makes engaging with one fruitless at best – and potentially dangerous at worst.

HIDING BEHIND A SCREEN

Because trolls tend to use anonymous profiles, they enjoy a lack of accountability. This also means they'll often have multiple profiles, potentially switching between them regularly or posting across several of them at the same time, making a target feel as though there's no escape. After all, once you block one account, what's to stop them reappearing elsewhere?

24/7 CONTACT

The Internet has given us the ability to remain in contact at any time, from almost anywhere in the world. A troll having the ability to reach you whenever they want can leave you feeling like their abuse is unavoidable. While they don't see you in real life, they can message you at any time, reach out to your peers online and even try to discover your personal information to scare you.

HATE SPEECH

Sadly, many trolls resort to spewing racial slurs, homophobic attacks and awful stereotypes, as these often stand the best chance of causing emotional harm. This can add a hefty degree of weight to their attacks, moving from what might charitably be described as "teasing" into a genuine hate crime. After Euro 2020, three England footballers were racially abused, resulting in several prison sentences.

IMPACT ON VICTIMS

It's not uncommon for the victims of trolls to shut down their accounts, disappear from public life, and try to stay out of the crosshairs for a time – with some even leaving social media forever. This can have a severe impact on children and young people's connections to friends and the world at large, and may not even actually stop the troll. The victims' families, for example, may have online profiles that trolls can still access.

NORMALISATION OF TROLLING

It is, regrettably, inevitable that some people will go too far in their criticisms or comments, both online and in the real world. This can lead to many people seeing trolls and their abuse as part and parcel of social media – an inherent risk of interacting with others online. This doesn't mean, however, that it should be considered "normal" or even tolerated.

Advice for Parents & Educators

USE PARENTAL CONTROLS

While social media platforms (where most trolling tends to happen) aren't always helpful when responding to abusive behaviour, parents can set up screen time limits, so children only get to use certain apps at certain times. There's always the potential for trolling to occur anyway – such as friends sharing screenshots to one another – but this would minimise the likelihood of children seeing it.

ENCOURAGE EMPATHY

While every professional athlete aspires to maintain high standards, it's important to separate the player from the person. A player's performance doesn't make them worthy of abuse, and that can often be forgotten by younger children who simply see the colour of the shirt without considering the person wearing it. For all the rivalry between teams, it's essential children understand that players are still human beings, with families and lives outside of sport.

DON'T ENGAGE WITH ABUSE

A well-known adage on social media is "don't feed the trolls". Fundamentally, it's a child identifies a potential troll online, it's best not to engage with that individual directly. Instead, consider setting up a log to gather evidence for reporting them later on, including screenshots and quotes where possible.

BLOCK AND REPORT

While anonymous accounts make it difficult to block trolls permanently – or even for very long – it's still good practice to help children learn to control who can engage with them online. It's not worth "feeding the trolls", and it's more helpful to block them, report them, and try to move on. Blocking and reporting is an anonymous process, too, so there'll be no indication of who specifically blew the whistle.

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators PROMOTING PHYSICAL WELLBEING

Physical activity isn't only beneficial for our bodies; it also plays a role in promoting mental wellbeing. With both the Euros and the Olympics this summer, it's an opportunity to engage young people in regular exercises which can reduce stress, improve mood and boost self-esteem. Despite these benefits, many children face barriers to participating in physical activity.

1 MAKE IT FUN

Integrate activities that children enjoy, such as playing games or dancing. Encourage participation in team sports or group activities to foster social relationships and a sense of belonging.

2 MIX MOVEMENT WITH LEARNING

Integrating learning with movement increases attention, retention, and cognitive function. Embedding exercises into the curriculum can also enhance learning and children's overall health and wellbeing.

3 CREATE OPPORTUNITIES

Provide clear choices for physical activity throughout the day. Both in-school and out-of-school, create an environment where play is encouraged and where children can help keep themselves up and active.

4 PROVIDE POSITIVE REINFORCEMENT

Praise and encourage children for their efforts and achievements in physical activity. Recognize their progress and celebrate their successes to reinforce positive behaviors. Educators could do this in several ways, such as rewarding their efforts at assemblies or celebrating their accomplishments in newsletters.

5 VARIETY IS KEY

Introduce a collection of physical activities to keep children engaged and prevent boredom. From swimming and cycling to yoga and martial arts, trying different types of exercise can help children to discover what they enjoy most.

6 ENJOYMENT OVER COMPETITION

Encourage children to focus on the enjoyment of physical activity rather than winning or outperforming others. Emphasize effort, improvement, and having fun with it. Encourage children to participate in activities that challenge them but are achievable with support and encouragement.

7 SET REALISTIC GOALS

Help children set achievable physical activity targets based on their interests, abilities, and preferences. Celebrate their progress and encourage them to maintain motivation and enthusiasm.

8 MAKE IT ACCESSIBLE

Ensure that children have access to safe, suitable spaces for exercise at home, at school and in the community. Advocate for facilities and programs which accommodate diverse needs and abilities. Be a change maker in your community if facilities aren't already available.

9 LEAD BY EXAMPLE

Parents and carers can be positive role models by prioritizing their own exercise and leading children in their fitness routines. In-school, physical education and sports activities can be wonderful opportunities for bonding and staying active together.

10 ENCOURAGE PERSISTENCE

Help children develop resilience and persistence by encouraging them to overcome challenges and setbacks in physical activity. Teach them the importance of perseverance and the value of effort in achieving their goals.
